for those who are looking for a beat'em up game, look no more this game can keep you playing for hours. I like how it has short levels for all you speedrunners and score attacker out there.. best game in the world. one of my fat friends said this game was the best he has ever seen. 10/10 would play again.. Don't buy or play it!This game sucks because it has ugly graphics,boring continent and epty servers _.. This game is pure perfection. The only thing it needs is more tracks or a beatmap creator.. No lefty support in Bowshot. Great flim and is worth wathcing twice!. This game is fun. The physics could be better but game is still early. Handles are good but water physics are lacking (think GTA water physics). Very much like Wave Race 64. It was one of my favorites as a kid. Playing this now sure beats playing Wave Race 64 on a emulator!. Great game 11/10 if you want a nice aesthetically pleasing destructive game get this . New units, more big maps, more fun!

Cheap and fun game. Sometimes there is a window problem . Every time but the first time the game went to full screen. I was hoping to play this on my arcade stick but can not. Luckily it's easy to play with the keyboard after changing the buttons. I have joy to key so I'll have to give that a try. Anyway it's a fun little game for those who like beat em ups.. Fun game, the ability to skip levels might ruin it for you.. Very Nice Game to play with friends, but has a really good single player story too!

I Love the older versions the new one's are kind of bad .....

But still a very good game for all player who like to think about their steps.

Much Love - Such Good. I like the Game idea and i have somethings i would like to say

1. Ground/Wall textures glitch out

2. reminds me to much of csgo

3. Skins glitch out

4. plz add a more decorative home screen

I would play this game so much if more people played

P.S Keep up the good work Devs ;). Very Fickle Recording software.

Considering all the options I tried that were available. This one was the best. There's obviously plenty out there that are better. But your choices in recording software range in price. You either pay out enough money that what you have is a statement. Or you settle for the free option that limits you. PlayClaw 5 is the middle ground.

This program does it job and it does it well. When it wants to. It's really a matter of what you're trying to record. What's great about this is that you don't have to do much in convoluted setups to get a recording going. And I like that. The GUI is rather simple and doesn't require you to ask people online for hours on end for an answer to a problem. Startup PlayClaw 5, Boot up your game, and it's ready to record. Just press a simple Hotkey to start recording and go.

It isn't a space hog either. A lot of people will bring up that it sucks that you have to have Steam open, along with this and your game open all at once. But at least this program isn't a total space hog. I can have things open in the background like Google Chrome, Skype, Discord, whatever, and not have issues. Does suck when PlayClaw 5 picks up the beeps from messenger programs though.

Issues

That's for games that PlayClaw 5 agrees with however. It agrees with most games...(Keyword: most). Other games is where PlayClaw 5 starts to act like a diva. Depending on the game, the program will either crash, record nothing at all, stop itself from recording, or continue recording despite that you hit the hotkey to stop it. Other times I record a different screen, I'll see one of my overlays appear in the recording as a messed up pixel (Usually the FPS counter). Worst case is when I get slideshow recordings, That's where it'll record maybe a few frames then freeze, then maybe, MAYBE move to another frame. It really doesn't like dealing with certain games or programs.

Give a few examples.

Bluestacks Emulator - You'll record nothing but a screen that says Bluestacks.

Alphadia Genesis - I have the FPS counter mess up. Then got where the video froze and gave me slideshow gameplay.

Dragon: A Game about a Dragon - Random Black Screens

League of Legends - Play Claw recorded the startup screen. But not the gameplay

Those are just a few examples. Some can be worked around. You can change the recording setting to not hunt for the window that has the game but just record the Desktop or Everything. Others I can't work around it and have to pray that a rerecording will fix the problem. Or just find a different recording software altogether. Not fun.

Another issue that pops up and that's if you're recording a high end game for a very long time. You get no warning about your Hard Drive being full. Once it reaches it's peak that's it. PlayClaw5 will forcibly stop then. But you won't get any warnings except from maybe your PC itself that you're out of hard drive space.

Customer Service

Customer Service is nice but not always helpful. They at least respond to your problems. I blame the program itself however. Cause when I ask for help from them they always tell me to send the crash dump file. A lot of problems however aren't recorded by the crash dump file. So it leaves me in an SOL situation. Thankfully I haven't had any future problems in the recent few months but it's still a haunting memory that this could happen again.

Steaming

I only tried this out maybe once or twice. I don't really like it. I mean it's better than some alternatives out there that make you pay for a monthly service or just leave you hanging out to dry to solve problems. But PlayClaw 5 for streaming is meh. When I first tried it. It was trying to stream content to my viewers at 10,000kbs and I didn't know it. That's very problematic. So I had to cut that down. I haven't really tried it again. Never found a reason to. I don't like livestreaming in the first place.

Overall

PlayClaw 5 for the price I got it for. Which was like 30 bucks due to a sale. Is worth it. It does its job right when it wants to. Doesn't interfere with my gameplaying too much. And that's generally what I like. Something can do its job and do it right. Even though it does get angry with me and fight me at times. It at least does better than many other screen recording software I tried out.. My son loves this game! It's cute and creative. I'm having issues even getting it to work though right now, but other than that all I have is positives about this game. :)
